The elemental geometric form of the Potter Light range is both simple and architectural. Wheel thrown by master potter, Michael Skewes, the fittings are made using a selection of high quality, Australian made stoneware and earthenware clays. Each of the fittings is imbued with the subtle differences in finish and form inherent in an authentically handcrafted object. The electrical componentry has been designed to complement the handmade nature of the ceramics.

After an initial firing, the fittings are hand finished with glazes developed for our lighting collection and then fired one final time. Inspired by place, Anchor's palette is developed inhouse to the highest standard. Clay body and glaze fit are developed together.
